A company that operates a web application on premises is preparing to launch a newer version of the application on AWS. The company needs to route requests to either the AWS-hosted or the on-premises-hosted application based on the URL query string. The on-premises application is not available from the internet, and a VPN connection is established between Amazon VPC and the company's data center.

The company wants to use an Application Load Balancer (ALB) for this launch.

Which solution meets these requirements?

A. Use one ALB with two AWS Auto Scaling groups: one for the AWS resource and one for on premises.

Add hosts to each Auto Scaling group. Route with Amazon Route 53 based on the URL query string.

B. Use two ALBs: one for on premises and one for the AWS resource. Add hosts to each target group of each ALB. Route with Amazon Route 53 based on the URL query string.

- A. The expansion is triggered by an aggr convert command.
- B. The 32-bit aggregates are degraded and must be Volume SnapMirrored to a new 64-bit aggregates with Data ONTAP 8.1 upgrade.
- C. The expansion is triggered by adding disks to exceed 16 TB.
- D. All aggregates are automatically converted from 32-bit to 64-bit with the Data ONTAP 8.1 upgrade.

Answer: C

Explanation:

The expansion process is triggered only when you add disks to a 32-bit aggregate such that the resulting aggregate capacity is greater than 16tb. When disks are added, if the resulting capacity is less than 16TB, the aggregate will continue to be 32-bit. Add enough storage to a 32-bit aggregate to increase the size beyond 16TB. Link
