B. Amazon CloudFront

C. Application Load Balancer

D. Amazon Route 53

Answer: D

Explanation:

Explanation

You can use the cloudfront with Route 53 Geolocation Routing. But the location wise content delivery is already enabled in cloudfront, so geolocation policy wont help that much. If you are not using cloudfront and you want to distribute traffic based on user location, then you can use Route53

NEW QUESTION: 2

Refer to the exhibit.

Which three statements about the exhibit output related to Cisco Fabric Services are true? (Choose three.)

A. The tacacs+ commit command is the only command that can be used to clear the lock.

B. The admin user on the 10.1.1.11 switch must clear the lock.

C. The operations manager user has started, but not committed, a configuration change for the feature tacacs+ command.

D. Any network-admin user can release the lock with the command clear tacacs+ session.

E. If committed, the changes are automatically saved to the startup configuration on all switches.

F. The lock can only be released only by the operations manager user on the 10.1.1.11 switch.

Answer: C,D,E

Explanation:

When you configure an application that uses the CFS infrastructure, that application starts a CFS session and locks the network. When a network is locked, the device software allows configuration changes to this application only from the device holding the lock. If you make configuration changes to the application from another device, the device issues a message to inform the user about the locked status. The configuration changes are held in a pending database by that application. If you start a CFS session that requires a network lock but forget to end the session, an administrator can clear the session. If you lock a network at any time, your user name is remembered across restarts and switchovers. If another user (on the same machine) tries to perform configuration tasks, that user's attempts are rejected.
