A. R4(config)# ip route 10.0.0.0 255.0.0.0 10.1.1.1
B. R4(config-router)# default-information originate
C. R4(config)# ip route 0.0.0.0 0.0.0.0 10.1.1.1

Explanation/Reference:
Explanation:
The "ip default-network " command will direct other routers to send its unknown traffic to this network.

Other router (R1,R2,R3) will indicate this network as the "Gateway of last resort".
There is another way to route unknown traffic to 10.1.1.0/24 network: create a static route using "ip route 0.0.0.0 0.0.0.0 10.1.1.2" command then inject this route using the "network 0.0.0.0" command, or using "redistribute static" command.
Note: In EIGRP, default routes cannot be directly injected (as they can in OSPF with the default- information originate command. Also, EIGRP does not have the "default-information originate" command).
