NEW QUESTION: 1
Your network contains an Active Directory forest named contoso.com. The forest contains a single domain. The domain contains three domain controllers. The domain controllers are configured as shown in the following table.

You plan to test an Application on a server named Server1. Server1 is currently located in Site1. After the test, Server1 will be moved to Site2.
You need to ensure that Server1 attempts to authenticate to DC3 first, while you test the Application.
What should you do?

A. Modify the registry on DC3.
B. Create a new subnet object and associate the subnet object to an existing site.
C. Modify the priority of site-specific service location (SRV) DNS records for Site2.
D. Modify the weight of site-specific service location (SRV) DNS records Site1.
Answer: C
Explanation:
Service Location (SRV) Resource Record Priority A number between 0 and 65535 that indicates the priority or level of preference given for this record to the host that is specified in Host offering this service. Priority indicates this host's priority with respect to the other hosts in this domain that offer the same service and are specified by different service location (SRV) resource records.
Incorrect: Not A: Weight: A number between 1 and 65535 to be used as a load-balancing mechanism. When you select among more than one target SRV host for the type of service (specified in Service) that use the same Priority number, you can use this field to weight preference toward specific hosts. Where several hosts share equal priority, SRV-specified hosts with higher weight values that are entered here should be returned first to resolver clients in SRV query results.
