NEW QUESTION: 2
You work in a company which uses SQL Server 2008. You are the administrator of the company database.
Now you are in charge of two SQL Server 2008 instance.

The two instances are respectively named InstanceA and InstanceB. There is a database named Dworks on InstanceA. You move the Dworks database to InstanceB. A user use a SQL Server login named Mary to access the database on InstanceA with the password "
#34". On InstanceB, you create the same
SQL Server login.
The user tries to use the SQL Server login Mark to access the Dworks database on InstanceB. But the user gets an error message, according to the indication of the message, the access to the Dworks database has been denied.
You must make sure that the user can access the Dworks database on InstanceB successfully.
So on InstanceB, which Transact-SQL statements should you execute?
A. USE AdventureWorks;ALTER USER Mary WITH LOGIN = Mary;
B. USE AdventureWorks;ALTER LOGIN Mary ENABLE;
C. USE AdventureWorks;ALTER LOGIN Mary WITH DEFAULT_DATABASE =
AdventureWorks;
D. USE AdventureWorks;ALTER LOGIN Mary WITH PASSWORD = "
#34" UNLOCK;
Answer: A
Explanation:
ALTER USER : Renames a database user or changes its default schema.
ALTER USER userName
WITH <set_item> [,...n]
<set_item> ::=
NAME = newUserName
 | DEFAULT_SCHEMA = schemaName
 | LOGIN = loginName
Arguments
userName
Specifies the name by which the user is identified inside this database.
LOGIN = loginName
Re-maps a user to another login by changing the user's Security Identifier (SID) to match the login's SID.
NAME = newUserName
Specifies the new name for this user. newUserName must not already occur in the current database.
DEFAULT_SCHEMA = schemaName
Specifies the first schema that will be searched by the server when it resolves the names of objects for this user.
Renames a database user or changes its default schema.
Remarks
If DEFAULT_SCHEMA is left undefined, the user will have dbo as its default schema.
DEFAULT_SCHEMA can be set to a schema that does not currently occur in the database. Therefore, you can assign a DEFAULT_SCHEMA to a user before that schema is created. DEFAULT_SCHEMA cannot be specified for a user who is mapped to a Windows group, a certificate, or an asymmetric key.

Important:
The value of DEFAULT_SCHEMA is ignored if the user is a member of the sysadmin fixed server role.
All members of the sysadmin fixed server role have a default schema of dbo.
You can change the name of a user who is mapped to a Windows login or group only when the SID of the new user name matches the SID that is recorded in the database.
This check helps prevent spoofing of Windows logins in the database.
The WITH LOGIN clause enables the remapping of a user to a different login. Users without a login, users mapped to a certificate, or users mapped to an asymmetric key cannot be re-mapped with this clause.
Only SQL users and Windows users (or groups) can be remapped.
The WITH LOGIN clause cannot be used to change the type of user, such as changing a Windows account to a SQL Server login.
The name of the user will be automatically renamed to the login name if the following conditions are true.
The user is a Windows user.
The name is a Windows name (contains a backslash).
No new name was specified.
The current name differs from the login name.
Otherwise, the user will not be renamed unless the caller additionally invokes the NAME clause.
