NEW QUESTION: 4

Clark Watson wants to purchase 300 shares of Babylon High Income fund, an open-end fund. How much must Clark pay to Babylon, if the fund has an NAV of $55.40 and a front-end load of 5%?

- A. $17,451.00
- B. $17,494.73
- C. $15,789.00

Answer: B

Explanation:

Load funds charge investors an initial sales charge. The charge is made when an investor buys the shares (front-end load). The offering price of a load fund equals the NAV of the fund plus the load. Watson needs to have $16,620 (300 x $55.40) in his account after the fund has taken out 5% load from whatever amount Clark pays. In other words, Clark must tender enough funds so that 95% of those funds equal $16,620: Funds required =  $$16,620 / 0.95 = $17,494.73$
