NEW QUESTION: 2

Which of the following statements pertaining to fire suppression systems is TRUE?

- A. Water Based extinguisher are NOT an effective fire suppression method for class C (electrical) fires.
- B. CO2 systems are NOT effective because they suppress the oxygen supply required to sustain the fire.
- C. Halon is today the most common choice as far as agent are concern because it is highly effective in the way that it interferes with the chemical reaction of the elements within a fire.
- D. Gas masks provide an effective protection against use of CO2 systems. They are recommended for the protection of the employees within data centers.

Answer: A

Explanation:

Water Based fire extinguishers should never be used on Electrical Fire. If you do so, it will probably be the last time you use such an extinguisher to put out an electrical fire as you will be electrocuted. Any liquid based agent should be avoided for Electrical Fire.

CO2 systems are effective because they suppress the oxygen supply required to sustain the fire.

Since oxygen is removed, it can be potentially lethal to people and gas masks do not provide protection against CO2. These systems are more appropriate for unattended facilities.

The Montreal Protocol of 1987 states that Halon has been designated an ozone-depleting substance and due to the risk to the environment production was stopped January 1st, 1994.

Companies that still have Halon systems have been asked to replace them with nontoxic extinguishers. The name of the agreement is called The Montreal Protocol.

Soda acid is an effective fire suppression method for common combustibles and liquids, but not for electrical fires.

TIP:

Do remember the name of the agreement that was signed in Montreal where countries have agreed to stop production of Halon, it is called: The Montreal Protocol

A student of mine told me that he thinks about me when he wish to remember the classes of fire, that scared me off a bit but his explanations made a lot of sense, here how he is using my first name to remember the classes of fire. My name is CLEMENT but he is using only the CLEM portion:

C = Common Combustible

L = Liquid Fire

E = Electrical Fire

M = Metals that are flammable

HERE IS ANOTHER WAY TO REMEMBER THEM FROM HARRISON:

A - Ash (common combustible)

B - Bubble/Boil (Liquid)

C - Circuit (Electrical)

D - Metal. (Just remember it :)
